

Two Killed When Air Derby Plane Crashes

First Pilot to Start in Class A Race From Roosevelt Field Killed Together With His Passenger—Participants in Class B Race Leave Chicago—Third Race to Start Wednesday.

New York, Sept. 20 (AP).—Two score airplanes in two groups were racing across the continent today, with a third group due to follow them tomorrow on a nonstop flight from Roosevelt Field in an effort to overtake them by the time they reach their goal, Spokane.

Tragedy, however, had marred the events. The first of fifteen class A planes which took off from Roosevelt Field today crashed shortly after takeoff at Long Valley, N. J., killing the pilot, R. E. Hudson, and his mechanic, Jay Radtke.

Missing Aviator Safe.

One of yesterday's starters, piloted by Tex Lagrone of Kansas City, reported missing since shortly after his take off, showed up today at Ashland, Pa.

Twelve of the 25 class B planes which took off yesterday spent last night in Chicago after making three required five minute stops enroute, and took off today without incident.

Three or four planes which spent the night in Cleveland got away to good starts, but number 48, with Pilot Hughes of Wheeling, W. Va., did not get away with them.

Several planes which rested in Bryan, Ohio, took off for Chicago, beginning to arrive there for five minute stops within two hours.

One of yesterday's starters turned back shortly after leaving Roosevelt Field.

One Woman Flier.

One woman, Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell, with her husband, James O'Donnell, in a class A plane that took off from Roosevelt Field today. Emil Burgin, another of today's starters, turned back within two hours on account of engine trouble.

The class A planes began arriving at Cleveland for five minute stops four hours and a half after today's start. They expect to spend tonight at St. Paul, after a five minute stop at Chicago.

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., Sept. 20 (AP).—Disaster today overtook the first of the 15 planes that set out from here for Cleveland on the first leg of a 2,275 mile race to Spokane, Washington. In the air derby, being held in connection with National Air Races at Spokane.

R. E. Hudson, of Marysville, Mich., the first pilot to start in the race, which began at 6 a. m. eastern standard time, was brought down in a fatal crash near Morristown, N. J., less than two hours later. His passenger Jay Radtke, of Marysville, was killed in the crash and Hudson died on the way to a hospital.

The tragic elimination of Hudson's plane from the race left but 13 of the 15 starters roaring westward toward Cleveland. Emil Burgin of Minnesota was forced to fly back from New York to Cortland Field, adjoining Roosevelt Field, because of trouble with the oil pump. Burgin said two hours would be required to remedy the pump but that he was hopeful of continuing the race later.

The crash of Hudson's plane was the first known serious accident involving the air derby, which began yesterday with the departure of 25 light commercial planes on a two-day race to Spokane.

Plane Fell About 7:30.

Hudson's plane was one of the three which was subject to protest from rival pilots because it was claimed they had racing wings.

Farmers saw the machine fall into the woods about 7:30 a. m. Long Valley is 20 miles northwest of Morristown and is a farming community.

Witnesses said that the aviator apparently was trying to gain altitude to pass over Schooley's mountain when the plane turned over. Hudson righted the machine but it faltered and dropped, turning over several times.

Race Started at Six.

Fifteen commercial planes set out between 6 a. m. and 6:15 eastern standard time today for Spokane, Washington. In the second of three transcontinental races being held in connection with National Air Races at Spokane.

The planes made a perfect takeoff despite the softness of the field due to heavy rains last night.

The race was competed in by planes capable of carrying two passengers as well as a pilot, but pilots were allowed to carry ballast instead of passengers of their choice.

Made Perfect Starts.

The precision with which the 15 planes left on scheduled time was described by Captain Walter Bender, who dropped the red flag that signaled the pilots to start, as one of the most perfect airplane racing starts he had ever seen.

U. S. Marine Is Killed in Fight in Nicaragua

Member of Nicaraguan National Guard Also Killed—Another Marine Fatally Wounded—Twenty Bandits Killed.

Washington, Sept. 20 (AP).—One American marine and one member of the Nicaraguan National Guard were killed and a second marine was fatally wounded in a fight yesterday between a detachment of 20 marines and 25 native constabulary and a force of about 140 members of the Salgado band.

The American legation at Managua, transmitting a report of the fight to the state department today, declared the bandits were said to have lost 20 killed and 50 wounded. A relief column of marines and constabulary is on the way to the scene of the fight at Telapana from Pueblo Nuevo to prevent a possible second attack.

The dispatch said bandits had attacked the garrison of the town at 1 a. m. and that the fighting lasted until 5 a. m., when they withdrew. The Salgado force was well armed with rifles, machine guns, hand bombs and dynamite bombs.

A report from a marine officer said that the new national guard, "as on other occasions, put up a splendid fight."

So far as casualties go, the fight yesterday appeared to have been the most serious since the Ocaña battle, in which the Nicaraguan Chief Sandino was reported to have lost several hundred of his followers in an attack on American marines and native constabulary. American aviators dispersed Sandino's men at that time.

Fleischmanns Bandit Sentenced

John Hendren, one of the three bandits who robbed the Archer livery stable at Fleischmanns on September 4, entered a plea of guilty to the charge of robbery, first degree, Monday in county court at Delhi. He did not wait for the grand jury action but pleaded guilty under an information filed with the court. Judge McNaught sentenced him to an indeterminate term in prison of from 10 to 20 years. Hendren is one of the three men caught at Mt. Tremper by State Troopers and Deputy Sheriff Segelken as they were attempting to escape after the robbery. Two others escaped.

John Duffy, another of the trio captured, has been taken to New Jersey where he is wanted on a charge of manslaughter, there being two indictments there against him in Hudson county. One of the two men who escaped is also wanted for participating in the same affair.

D. N. Mathews For School Board

It is expected that the name of Delancey N. Mathews, president of the New York State National Bank, will be filed by Mayor Edgar J. Dempsey with the common council tonight for appointment to the board of education. A vacancy in the board of education was recently caused by the death of Judge John G. Van Eiten and the appointee will fill the unexpired term.

Polls to Close At 9 Tonight

Polls opened at noon today. Primary day, and will close this evening at 9 o'clock. Enrolled voters may vote for their choice of their parties for nomination as candidates to be voted for at the annual election in November. Delegates and alternates to the state convention may also be voted for.

Drews Was the Complainant.

The complaining witness in the case of the People against William W. Van Keuren, who had been charged with using vile language and making threats, which case was tried on September 15 before Judge Jenkins at Lake Katrine, the jury finding him not guilty, was Ernest Drews, carpenter and builder, and not Ernest Greux as inadvertently printed.

Pershing, Foch, Walker Capture Paris Convention

With Their Oratory—Delegates Brought to Their Feet Time and Time Again—President of Legion Auxiliary Also Speaks.

Palais du Trocadero, Paris, Sept. 20 (AP).—General John J. Pershing and Marshal Foch, dominant figures together in the stirring war days of ten years ago, today brought the American Legion convention delegates to their feet time and time again in speeches at the second day American Legion session in the historic Palais du Troc.

The two striking military leaders who for the first time in their careers forgot military exactitude, were late in reaching the convention hall, but when they did they were the dominating figures to hold the stage.

Mayor James J. Walker of New York, unannounced and unscheduled as a speaker, was a close second, addressing the assembled legionnaires at their insistent demand.

The two military leaders spoke with cool and untroubled voices, their speeches referring to the heroic deeds of the war and causing the delegates to rise to their feet cheering madly on many occasions.

Jimmy simply carried the convention away with a "100 per cent American" stirring address.

"The American Legion stands for peace and liberty, together and onward. Who is the Frenchman who would not answer this call?" were Marshal Foch's closing words. They rang through the immense hall like a clarion call and as the marshal sat down the delegates sat as stunned for a moment and then burst out with such cheering, noise and pandemonium as must have made the marshal remember the terrific din at the front.

General Pershing's reference to Marshal Foch as "our distinguished guest, outstanding soldier of the world and leader of the Allies," brought renewed cheering.

Most of the speakers today made enthusiastic references to the immense success of yesterday's brilliant parade.

Mrs. Adeline Wright Macaulay, national president of the American Legion Auxiliary, was the first woman speaker of the convention. She presented a touch of grace among the brilliant military uniforms of Marshal Foch and General Gouraud and the sombre plain black civilian suit worn by General Pershing.

Marshal Foch, in the course of his address, paid tribute to General Pershing's devotion to the common cause of the allies.

"If from the rays of anguish sprang out victory, we must not forget that after the valiance of the soldier, the greatest part of the result is due to the perfect understanding between the leaders," the Marshal said. "It must be remembered that General Pershing, without insisting on his prerogatives of rank, showed always in our work entire abnegation, most complete devotion to the common cause of absolute righteousness and also the greatest energy to insure the triumph of our cause."

"No other country will understand you better than France. In the days of anguish, General Pershing came with an American army to tell Lafayette 'We are here.' Today when France is dressing her wounds, the American Legion stands for peace and liberty together and onward. Who is the Frenchman who would not answer this call?"

General Pershing, also, paying a tribute to Marshal Foch, spoke of the long traditional friendship between France and the United States.

"The friendship of France and our country," he said, "has its roots in a history full of mutual help. There never has been any bargain between us but there has been a wide sentiment and these feelings have twice been translated into deeds of vast importance. When young Lafayette said his heart had been enrolled he had no idea but to join his colors, yet he expressed in romantic boyish fashion an idea which stirred into action a hundred million people more than a century later."

Getting Ready For Diphtheria Clinic Friday

Arrangements Being Made to Have Automobile Transportation for Parents and Children Unable to Walk to Armory—Clinic Opens 2 p. m.

Arrangements are rapidly being completed for the first of the series of free clinics to be held at the state armory in the program to eradicate diphtheria from Kingston. The first clinic will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and plans are being made for automobile transportation for parents and children to be conveyed to and from the armory that afternoon.

At present there are about 2,500 children in Kingston who have been immunized at previous clinics held here and it will not be necessary for them to attend the present series.

All children who attend the clinic Friday must be accompanied by their parents or guardian or have a written consent of the parent with them. As the clinic opens at 2 o'clock it is urged that parents with children of preschool age attend as early as possible as it is expected that there will be a large attendance of school children which school closes at 3 o'clock that afternoon.

Dr. Daniel Connelly, health officer, stated today that all who are willing to donate the use of their automobiles to convey children to the clinic Friday should have their cars at the armory parking grounds by 2 o'clock that afternoon.

A house to house canvass is now being made by a number of volunteer workers to interest parents in sending their children to the clinic.

The question has been asked at what age is diphtheria most likely to occur? The answer is, in children under ten. More than 50 per cent of the deaths occur between the ages of one and five.

Another question asked is at what age should children be given toxin antitoxin, and the answer is, all children between the ages of six months and ten years should be immunized.

Jensen and His Lion Are Safe

Attempt to Make Non-Stop Flight From San Diego to New York Ends On an Arizona Mountain Side—The Lion is Hungry.

Phoenix, Ariz., Sept. 20 (AP).—Martin Jensen, ocean liner pilot, attempt to make a non-stop flight from San Diego to New York with a full grown lion as a passenger ended in a forced landing on an Arizona mountain side, rested today at Apache Lodge, 125 miles north of here, while plans were being made to extract the lion's cage from the wrecked plane.

Jensen, who had been missing since last Friday, appeared yesterday at a ranch near Apache Lodge after a three day hike from the scene of his smashed plane. He left the lion unharmed by the abrupt landing but somewhat thirsty and with growing hunger.

The lion, a veteran of the circus and long inured to motion picture work, but a novice at flying, appeared highly disgusted with his pilot, according to Jensen's story telephoned here. The lion's steel cage came safely through the crash.

Jensen's flight started from San Diego Friday morning. That afternoon, while flying low over a canyon, he suddenly was confronted by the wall in which it ended. A tree top stopped the plane in time to prevent its striking the wall of the canyon, but it rolled over twice after landing.

"I didn't have time to think of what might have happened while the plane was rolling over on the tree, not even if the cage should have split open and dumped the lion on me," Jensen said. "But he seems to have taken care of himself in the case while he was tumbling and if he didn't like it, he didn't make any roar about it."

"I stripped a piece of aluminum off the plane and made a trough that I filled with water for him from the creek in the canyon. Then I fixed him up with what milk we have left, divided my sandwiches with him and started down the canyon for help."

"The first day I walked till dark. After a sleep in the brush I got up at daylight and went on. My shoes began to drop off Sunday. The first sign of habitation I found was a ranch house I came to Monday forenoon. I told the rancher who I was and where the lion was. He promised to take some food to Leo and directed me to the H-Bar ranch. When I got there the foreman telephoned out that I was alive."

Jensen added that the lion behaved beautifully all the way, lying quietly in his cage, with the exception of once when he jumped to his feet as the plane ran over a hump in the takeoff at Camp Kearney.

Union Hose Co. Meeting.

There will be a special meeting of Union Hose Company, No. 4, on Wednesday evening, September 21, at 8 o'clock. All members are urged to attend.

Kiwanis Kunning Kapers Kaptures Kingston Krowd

Local Talent Act Like Professionals in Big Revue at Broadway Theatre—All Acts So Good That It is Difficult to Give Special Praise.

The premier showing of the Kingston Kiwanis Kapers was given Monday evening at the Broadway Theatre before an enthusiastic audience that filled every seat in the spacious and beautiful theatre and proved to be one of the finest performances ever staged by local talent. It was a snappy musical revue featuring not one but a host of scintillating stars, and proved a revelation of what can be done under the efficient direction of a man who knows his business.

The Kapers will kaper again this evening and Wednesday evening and there is not a resident in Kingston who can afford to miss seeing it.

Judging from the stellar performance of Monday evening the receipts for producing successful Kiwanis Kapers is to take a host of pretty girls and mix well; add a spice of peppy dancing and a dash of sparkling music; sprinkle with humor and garnish with beautiful stage settings and there you are.

From the rise of the curtain until its final fall there was not a dull moment Monday evening and with Charles L. Adams, the man who staged the Kapers, leading and directing, the performance moved with snap and precision, and every one of the large cast deserves credit for his or her work whether the bit was large or small.

Opening Forecasts Success.

The opening selection of the orchestra under the baton in the hands of Mr. Adams gave the audience a slight hint of what was in store and as the curtain rolled up on the first scene it showed a stage filled with pretty girls and handsome youths singing "All We Need is the Alphabet" with the solo sung by Vincent Van Bramer, assisted by Lillian Woerner and Ella May Longtree dressed appropriately, who danced delightfully. The chorus sang with snap and danced like a full fledged Ziegfeld Follies chorus. The opening number was greeted with applause which continued with "In Saxophone" with John Erbe, Charles Whitaker and Leo Mosier displaying what can be done with a "sax" and they were forced to respond with another selection.

Comedians Demonstrate Ability.

Every one who has attended local shows within the past year or so knew that Dick O'Neals could get but none had known before that A. E. Jensen, who raises apples of the finest for a living, S. J. Messenger, who sells meat; L. H. Doty, who handles gasoline, and Dr. A. C. Gates, the eye specialist, were actors of the finest type. That New York city managers have overlooked some of the funniest comedians that ever graced a stage was quickly demonstrated when they presented what was called "Wasted Words," an unusual comedy sketch. All five were supposed to be "hard of hearing" and the mixup that resulted when they all met to negotiate the sale of a sail boat—well, it has to be seen and heard to be appreciated and those who attend the Kapers this evening are in for an unusual treat.

One of the most pleasing of the song and dance numbers was "In a Little Garden" featuring Alice McLaughlin and Gladys Hopper, whose voices harmonized perfectly and whose dancing was so graceful that it was a delight to the eye. This number was starred with very beautiful stage settings and also proved one of the hits of the program.

A dash of humor followed in the comedy sketch "Leave It to Levi" featuring William Newkirk as the policeman and James Waters as Levi. This act was embellished with some local hits that touched the funny bone of the audience. The sketch gave ample opportunity to both Newkirk and Waters to display an exceptional brand of comedy.

Musical Revue Big Hit.

A musical revue is not a successful one unless it features a male quartet and the Kapers in Messrs. Harry Zellmer, Otis V. Atkins, R. F. Childsey and Richard Dawe had a quartet of singers that proved an other big hit of the evening when they presented a comedy singing act entitled "A Story From the Old Family Album." This was put on with an unusual stage setting. As the curtain rolled up it displayed a back drop on which were painted four life size portraits of men. The heads had been cut away from the portraits and in their place were the heads of the four singers. This was an unusual number exceptionally well staged, and the songs they sang brought back memories of the "good old days" to the older ones in the audience.

It was followed by a dramatic moment with "Bob" Service who had the entire stage to himself for a few minutes. If any one desires to make a hit at the theatre he should study the winter of the program, there showing beg or borrow "Bob's" dress suit. Mr. Service had not proceeded very far with his presentation before it was interrupted in a most dramatic manner which it would hardly be fair to tonight's audience to repeat of this time.

Revue Very Delightful.

Miss Jessie Cowley is today one of the most popular soprano singers in Kingston, while J. Paul Purcell's tenor voice has been heard to ad-

Morrow Named Envoy To Mexico By Coolidge

Prospective Ambassador Will Retire as Business Partner of J. P. Morgan—Choice Made by President Personally—Consulted Only a Few Associates.

Washington, Sept. 20 (AP).—Dwight W. Morrow, New York banker, has been selected by President Coolidge to be ambassador to Mexico.

The prospective ambassador, who will retire as a business partner of J. P. Morgan to accept the appointment, has long been a personal friend of the President. The choice was made by Mr. Coolidge personally, and there were indications that in his determination to seek the aid of his friend in the tangled and delicate Mexican problem the President consulted only a few associates.

Has Delicate Task.

Upon Mr. Morrow will fall the task of placing over an international relationship worn thin by months of controversy. It is no secret that Mr. Coolidge has come to regard the question of Mexico as one of the most troublesome problems of his administration and his friends believe it is his hope to enlist every personal aid at his disposal to put Mexican-American relations on a stable basis before he leaves the White House.

The Major Difficulty.

In the opinion of the President, the major difficulty with Mexico hinges on a direct issue whether American property in that country is to be confiscated under the "new Mexican land and oil laws. To this question he feels that Mr. Morrow is no stranger. Mr. Morrow is a lawyer, learned in the rights of property owners, and he has been 13 years one of the partners in the international banking house of J. P. Morgan and Company which has a vast and far-flung contact with the question of American investments abroad.

Senate Confirmation Necessary.

With Congress out of session, Mr. Morrow's selection becomes effective at his own pleasure although if he continues in office senate confirmation will be ultimately necessary. The Washington government has obtained the Mexican government's sanction of the selection. The post has been vacant since Ambassador Sheffield resigned last July.

Baby Puzzle Has Been Solved

Cleveland, Sept. 20 (AP).—The Fairview Park Hospital "baby puzzle" has been solved and the smiling infant girl whose identity has been drawn into dispute is Mrs. Sam Smith's own child, officials of the hospital are convinced.

With the return to the hospital of Miss Ruth Meyer, a nurse who assisted in delivering Mrs. Smith's child, everything has been explained. Philip Vollmer, Jr., superintendent of the hospital, claims.

Vollmer said he is ready to go into court Thursday with the testimony of Miss Meyer that she recalls distinctly the baby was a girl but that in the stress of the moment following its birth she became excited and told the family physician, Dr. J. A. Reutenik, it was a boy.

Nip Plot to Start Revolt in Mexico

Los Angeles, Sept. 20 (AP).—Months of patient waiting by police and federal officers today had resulted in the nipping of what the authorities believe was a conspiracy to foment a new revolution in Mexico.

The officers raided a meeting place of suspects last night with the result that sixteen Mexicans were taken into custody, although only four were held.

The raid also netted four sub-machine guns, as well as rifles, shotguns and ammunition. Officers said the plotters planned to capture strategic points in lower California, Mexico, including Tijuana.

300 Winnipeg Residents Saved

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 20 (AP).—Three hundred residents of Winnipeg were again safe at home today after having been marooned on a long finger of land near Victoria and Grand Beach, on the eastern shores of Lake Winnipeg, by a storm that washed away the railway tracks last week end. The campers, isolated from the mainland when a violent gale swept the lake water over the only connecting railway, were rescued by a relief train yesterday.

The relief train was eight hours on the sixty mile run from the beaches to this city, owing to the dangerous condition of the roadbed.

PRINCESS JULIANA OF HOLLAND VISITS PARLIAMENT

The Hague, Holland, Sept. 20 (AP).—Princess Juliana for the first time accompanied her parents, Queen Wilhelmina and the Prince Consort, to the opening of Parliament today.

The queen in her speech from the throne said a bill would be introduced for reduction of the income tax. She also announced measures to prevent recurrence of the recent troubles in Java and Sumatra.

(These troubles were ascribed to radical agitators, who sought to stir up a revolt against the government.)

Congress Will Not Meet Early

President Coolidge Decides Definitely Not to Call Congress Together Before December—Believes Flood Situation Can Be Handled Adequately at Regular Session.

Washington, Sept. 20 (AP).—A definite decision against a special session of Congress in advance of its regular December meeting date has been reached by President Coolidge.

All of the information reaching the president is said to indicate that the Mississippi flood situation can be handled as effectively at the regular session as by convening in advance. Relief funds on hand are adequate, Secretary Hoover has reported, to take care of the situation until after January 1. It was said engineers studying the flood prevention plans will find it difficult to get all of their data and studies compiled for Congress to act upon even by December.

The New Empress of the Rails

Sixty passenger engines of a new and improved type go into service on our lines this month. They are the most powerful six-driving-wheel locomotives ever built, and tests show that they are the most forward step in locomotive construction in years. A distinctly New York Central achievement, this type will be known as the "Hudson."

This engine differs from its predecessors chiefly by having the four-wheel, powered truck under the cab. This gives a more even distribution of the great weight, and hence greater starting and tractive power.

The story of New York Central is largely the story of the development of ever more efficient and more powerful locomotives. Thus does the "Hudson" become the lineal descendant of the "De Witt Clinton," and take its place as the new empress of the rails.

Fifty of these "Hudson" engines will be on the New York Central, and ten on the Michigan Central. Those on the New York Central will be numbered from 5200 to 5249; those on the Michigan Central from 5250 to 5259.

Few Veterans Left at Syracuse

New Football Coach Has Difficult Job
With Only Three Lettermen Left
From Last Year's Team—Faced With Hard Schedule.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 20 (AP).—Big Bill Orangeth will march to the football wars this fall under the flag of a new commander. He is Lew Andreas, former director of Freshman athletics at Syracuse, promoted to the head coaching position last February when the popular veteran Pete Reynolds resigned.

Andreas is faced with a difficult task. Football followers here declare that not in a decade has there been such a scarcity of gridiron timber in the vale of Onondaga. Graduation took Vic Hanson and Jules Archoska, rated the greatest pair of ends the Orange ever had; the first five line-men and four first-string backs, Bayley and Lee, tackles; Levy and McNamara, guards; Friedman, center; Clark, Carr, Flannigan and Cook, backs, all received their diplomas last June.

Remainings are three lettermen, Captain Ray Barbuti, and Jonah Goodman, halfbacks, and Walter Winick, guard. Around these men Andreas will build his team.

It good backs solved his problem he would have no worries. Besides Barbuti and Goodman, Andreas has two sterling first-string men in Tommy Manning, quarterback, and Hal Baysinger, fullback. Both are triple threats. Contesting their ambitions are Sam Sebo, star of the freshmen last year; Glenn Loucks, another promising sophomore; Grant Lewis, Howie Henward, Biff Mann, Lew Bisik and Bob Whitney, all of whom have shown good form in the training camp at Shore Acres on Cazenovia Lake.

Barbuti is a quarter-mile weighing 120 pounds. Goodman is almost as fast and weighs 150. Baysinger, Loucks, Bisik, Lewis, Sebo and Mann are all powerfully built and of more than average speed. The Orange backfield will be big, strong, fast and versatile but will have to depend on, not a new line, but a very green one.

There is plenty of size and strength in the squad of forwards tutoring under Joe Dach, former Notre Dame star, now serving his third term here as line coach. The first 15 candidates for forward berths average in weight more than 190 pounds but it is beef that will require much educating.

Winick may be shifted to tackle from guard. Center will be taken care of by Bob Wittman, a powerful 185 pounder, who packs his weight in a frame of five feet, nine inches. Wittman would have been a varsity guard last year had he not lacked a half point of the eligibility standard. He is fast, clever and a great hand playing a loose center.

Jack Patterson, intercollegiate heavyweight wrestling champion, seeks a line berth and will probably be placed at a tackle. Another likely looking tackle is John Taylor, varsity sub for two seasons. Bill Newman, 210 pounds; Ray Van Ness, 220; Hy-mie Kopf, 215; Joe Crawley, 195, captain elect of the crew; Lou Nico-liello, 175; Hank Brophy, 180, are other leading line aspirants. Van Ness is the only sophomore. The others are former members of the scrubs.

Andreas doesn't dare have hope of developing another Hanson or another Archoska. He lost the best wing bet he had in Lynn Fontaine who left school last spring. Eddie Raymond, a sophomore, and Ray Jones, a senior, who has subbed it for two years, are leading Gugins and Pennys, the other wings, in the chase for the flank positions but none of them are up to the standard at Syracuse which, for some unexplained reason, has always had strong ends, even in lean years.

Andreas is a firm believer in hard work and fundamentals. The freshmen teams he coached were noted for their blocking and tackling ability; they played hard, rugged football and were always well conditioned. Three weeks in camp with three and four hours of work daily have given Andreas's first varsity squad a fine conditioning and without a single serious injury.

The schedule is one of the hardest ever arranged for the Orange. Major games start with Georgetown, October 15, following with Penn State, Nebraska, Ohio Wesleyan, Colgate, Niagara and Columbia.

MAN SIZED MEALS FOR ENGLISH GIRLS

London, Sept. 20 (AP).—English girls eat more than American girls, according to a London hotel and restaurant manager.

"The American woman does not order a luncheon—no more than a sandwich, a little chicken, perhaps, and always iced coffee or ice water," he says. "I call that a breakfast."

"The English girl is sensible, she eats heartily and sometimes more than a man."

The city ethnographer who fed on currant buns and water has disappeared, he thinks. The London girl sits down to a proper meal. Although she eats more, she still keeps slim.

Now you can taste beans like them

Up in the Maine logging country they still bake beans as the old pioneers did—in an outdoor earthen oven called the "bean hole."

What flavor! What tenderness! What brown mealiness that long, slow cooking gives!

Bean Hole Beans are the first to match successfully that baked-in-the-ground taste. Baked from an old-time recipe they are succulent with the dripping flavors of sugar-cured prime pork, molasses and brown sugar. Two sizes—medium and large.

Now you can get the true

Jury Awards $200 for Cow

Plaintiff Whose Cow Was Hit by Auto at Greenfield Recovers Verdict Against Youth Who Drove Car and His Parents.

At the conclusion of the case of Morris Steinborn against Oscar Grand, Mary Grand and Arthur Grand, tried in county court Monday, counsel for defendants moved that the action be dismissed since it had been shown by the proof that Arthur Grand, son, was not acting as the employee or agent of the other two defendants at the time of the alleged accident in which the cows of plaintiff were injured by being struck by an automobile at Greenfield last October. Arthur Grand testified that he had not been working for his parents and that they were not the owners of the car but that it belonged to his brother. On cross-examination, however, he said he had done some work for his parents while on the farm. The motion to dismiss as against the father and mother was denied and the case was sent to the jury.

A verdict against all three defendants was later returned for $200, the amount sued for. Plaintiff claimed his cows being driven along the road by herdsmen were run into by a car operated by Arthur Grand and damages amounting to $205 sustained. However, he asked for only $200.

LeRoy Lounsbury appeared for the plaintiff and Morris Kanfer for the defendants. The case was an appeal from justice's court at Ellenville.

Chief of Police Hal Ross of Ellenville, who was a State Trooper at the time of the accident, testified that he examined the car after the accident and found the brakes were not working properly. There was also some testimony that young Grand had said after the accident that his mother had told him to take the Peerless car instead of a Dodge car because the brakes were in need of repairs and that he was on his way to Ellenville to have the brakes repaired at the time of the accident.

Vare Organization Under Fire Again

Philadelphia, Sept. 20. (AP)—The strength of the Republican organization in Philadelphia under the leadership of Senator-Elect William S. Vare, was again put to the test today at the primary election for the nomination of candidates for Mayor and other municipal and county offices.

Basing his campaign on a declaration against "gang rule" former Mayor J. Hampton Moore, independent candidate for the Republican mayoralty nomination claims to have aroused unusual public interest and predicts victory for the independent. Mr. Moore pointed to the record-breaking registration of more than 500,000 voters, which he asserted, was due to an "aroused citizenship."

Supporters of Harry A. Mackey, city treasurer and campaign manager for Senator-Elect Vare, the organization candidate for mayor, predicted his nomination by an overwhelming majority.

DRAMA OF GOLD RUSH REVEALED

President's Pardon of Vucro Perovich Bares Story of Strange Life.

Kansas City, Mo.—When President Coolidge granted absolute freedom to Vucro Perovich the other day he ended a drama of the gold rush which reads almost like fiction.

Behind bars 21 years and in the shadow of the gallows, Perovich's spectacular battle for liberty was ended by the Executive pardon. He has not been bitter over the misfortune Fate has heaped upon him. And now, at forty years of age, owner of two barber shops in Rochester, he sees a happy future. Some day he will visit his fatherland, Montenegro, where his father was a nobleman.

He was released from the federal prison November 6, 1926, by Judge John C. Fullock, of the Kansas Federal court, on a writ of habeas corpus. His plea was unusual; he asked freedom or death. If his plea had been allowed he would have been taken back to Alaska and hanged according to a court decree there.

His argument was based on his declared innocence of a murder for which he was convicted. The murder was in 1904. At that time he could not speak English. It was his contention that death would be preferable to an innocent man than a cruel imprisonment.

Judge Pollock held with him, ruling the President of the United States in 1909, William Howard Taft, had no right to commute the death sentence imposed on Perovich by the Alaskan court without the consent of the accused. In his decision, however, Judge Pollock declared justice would not be served by sending Perovich to the gallows after he had served twenty-one years in jail and prison. That point was not decided.

President Taft was asked to commute sentence after Perovich had been in jail four years. He did this by Executive order. Perovich was taken to the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., to pass the rest of his life. There the young nobleman studied American laws and customs, mastering both language and law. He came across the legal point which proved to be the sesame for his recent release.

He applied to the court and George McDermott, a Kansas lawyer, was appointed to represent him. Then came the presentation of facts in the case. Strangely, time had shifted characters in this drama so that former President Taft was now chief justice of the United States and was called upon to pass upon the legality of his own Executive order that saved Perovich from the gallows. Last May the court held against Judge Pollock, and McDermott and Perovich shaped their application for a pardon from President Coolidge.

Early Life Was One of Ease. Few of the romantic novels ever written about imaginary principalities in Europe are dotted with stranger and more unusual circumstances than have entered into Perovich's life. His father was chief justice in Montenegro and a friend of King Nicholas. His mother was of the royal family.

As a child Perovich played with the royal children and no expense was spared in his education. At fifteen he could speak eight Slavic dialects and Spanish, French and Italian. A few years later Russia and Turkey became involved in one of the Balkan wars and he enlisted in the Russian army. The youngest officer in the army, he was decorated for bravery and commissioned a lieutenant. When war was over he desired to join a brother who had come to America. Reports of gold in Alaska also attracted him and finally he obtained permission to come.

In Alaska he met an American prospector named Sam. Perovich could only speak a few words of English. They found a claim from which they took $14,000 worth of gold. Then went to Fairbanks, Alaska, to buy machinery so they could take out gold in greater quantities.

One day while Perovich was standing in the door of a saloon in Fairbanks his partner came staggering to him, wounded and bleeding.

"Our claim has been jumped," Sam muttered.

Perovich said recently he hurried back to their cabin and found three men there. He asked for his clothes and other belongings. Answering, the men drew knives and started to attack him. He was six feet tall, weighed 205 pounds and was toughened by months of hard labor. Seizing a huge board, he fought them off and finally obtained his clothes.

A few days later he was arrested on a charge of assault. He was given to understand an assault charge meant little in Alaska.

Accused of a Murder. While he was in jail pending the outcome of the assault charge, he declares the three men accused him of the murder of an old prospector at a wood chopper's camp to which Perovich had moved after the fight. These witnesses, he declared, produced clothing said to have belonged to the old man and accused Perovich of having threatened to kill the old prospector. The cabin, in which the prospector lived was burned and the accusers charged Perovich had murdered him and had burned the cabin to conceal the crime.

Before Perovich knew what it was all about he was charged with murder. The members of the jury were quick to believe the accusers. It was charged in the prosecution that Perovich's lack of knowledge of English was only a pretense and that accusation prejudiced the jury against him. He was convicted. Then the question arose in the minds of those who reviewed the case that the testimony of the three men might have been prejudiced.

After President Taft commuted his sentence, Perovich became one of the lost legion in the Alaskan gold rush. He heard of his brother who had made a fortune in Alaska and was returning to Montenegro to be married. Perovich refused his brother's offer to forego his marriage and spend his fortune to obtain freedom. His brother went to Europe and never returned, abandoning the case as hopeless after receiving the decisions of the courts.

Released on the habeas corpus plea, Perovich went to Rochester and bought a barber shop with a small initial payment. Before long he had paid for it, and purchased another. Now he has the latter shop cleared and owns a motor car.

Besides his brother who amassed wealth in Alaska, Perovich had three other brothers. They were killed in the World war. Their widows, with eight children, are living in Minnesota. Virtually all the money Perovich earned from special work while he acted as prison interpreter was sent to the widows to support the children. His lawyer estimated that he had sent them almost $2,000.

Leaping Scribe Lures

Bear to Death in Pit

Rock Springs, Wyo.—With an eye to detail acquired in a newspaper office, Robert S. Wilson, Rock Springs newspaper man, recently told a bear story that makes all other similar tales appear no more exciting than crop reports.

And since he had no eyewitnesses, Wilson silenced scoffers with steak from the bear he caught inadvertently with the aid of his feet and one of Wyoming's canyons.

Wilson's bear epic started when he covered his typewriter and went to the nearby mountain for a day of peaceful fishing.

He hardly had cast his first fly, Wilson said, when the bear sauntered up. He looked hungry, Wilson added.

So Wilson, remembering how he had evaded the left tackle when he was a football star at the University of Wyoming years ago, took to his heels.

The bear gave chase, Wilson kept just ahead of the animal's teeth for about a mile, more or less.

Ahead loomed a small canyon approximately 100 feet deep. Wilson couldn't stop. Momentum and the bear wouldn't let him. So he leaped and landed safely on the other side.

The bear couldn't stop either. But he wasn't so lucky as Wilson. He landed with a crash at the bottom of the chasm.

The bear's carcass, except for the steaks Wilson cut from its flanks, was left at the place where it fell.

Magpies Know When

Poison Is in Food

Del Norte, Colo.—It has been observed that after a spell of poisoning magpies there follows a period of about three weeks when none of the robbing, death-dealing birds are killed. This has raised the question in the mind of Extension Agent T. G. Stewart of Rio Grande county: "Do magpies forget?"

For a time at the beginning of the campaign, magpies take arsenic readily. Then there is a period of abstinence, followed by a renewal of results. Stewart believes that another flock of magpies coming from a new locality where news of the arsenic has not reached are responsible for the renewal of deaths. Those versed in bird lore, however, say the new victims probably are members of the old flock who have forgotten the fate of the other birds, and pay with their lives for this slip of memory.

The United States biological survey has declared war on the devastating magpie family.

Chipmunk Kills Rattler

Then Dies From Poison

Bellefonte, Pa.—A chipmunk, weighing scarcely half a pound, thwarted the plans of foresters near here to witness a battle royal between a rattler and a black snake.

Capturing a rattlesnake 4½ feet long the foresters decided to hold it until a black snake—traditional enemy of the rattler—could be found.

Unable to locate a black snake, the foresters placed a chipmunk in the rattler's den to provide the reptile with a meal. The chipmunk had other plans and, taking the aggressive, literally bit the snake in two.

The chipmunk was bitten during the struggle and died of the poison from the rattler's fangs, but not until it had lived to see its enemy die.

Shoulder Flower Easy to Make and Is Smart

Any scrap-bag can be coaxed into yielding fairylike shoulder-flowers that for smartness and charm cannot be excelled by the "hothouse" blossom in the smartest shop, according to Helen Grant, writing in Needlecraft Magazine.

Miss Grant, who believes that no self-respecting frock will be seen without its complementary and complimentary flower this season, points out that these newest of new posies are at their choicest when accompanied by little silken handkerchiefs matching them in color, and decorated in the same manner, either with borders of with wee flowers in their corners. "Shoulder-flowers," the article says, "are made with textile paints to tint the blossoms, plastic embroidery (cone-work) to finish the edges, some fine wire, foil for wrapping stems, and some stamens in addition to the chosen material. These materials cover a wide range, and need not be new, so long as they are in good condition. Remnants that can be picked up for a song, left-over lengths and sizable scraps, discarded frocks and slips, which may be dyed, bits of ribbon; crepe de chine, satin-broc, crepe, satin, georgette, chiffon, mousseline-de-soie, maline, net (fine), organdie, voile, handkerchief-linen, taffeta, flannel, jersey, even felt, are among the possibilities; indeed almost any smooth-surface fabric can be used. Remember, though, that textile paints are transparent, and cannot be used on any but light shades with success."

However, the handkerchief to match, according to Miss Grant, must be made only of silk, linen, or voile. She continues, "Tinting is optional, and usable only on light materials. Your flower becomes a fairy blossom by means of plastic embroidery. The method consists of covering the outlines of a design with a tube paste which, while still moist, is sprinkled thickly with gold or silver metal powder. The paste, in drying remains flexible, and edges need no other finish, because the threads of fabric are firmly held when the article is cut out."

There is an incentive to lounging around in one's boudoir now that pajamas and lounging robes are so exquisite. There is some talk from Paris about a fad for long-sleeved nightgowns, but as long as there are such ravishing ones of satin and pajamas of all sorts of materials with robes, to match—what price long sleeves?

Pajamas and Lounging Robes Greatly Admired

The oriental ones with black satin trousers and jacket of gold brocade and a satin jacket lined with the brocade are gorgeous when worn with the coat of a Chinese mandarin. These mandarin coats are an excellent purchase, too. They can be worn for an evening wrap, for a studio costume or for a smoking robe.—Cleveland News.

Cheap Silk Kerchiefs From Wornout Garments. Crepe de chine garments that are worn in places and seem good only for the rag-bag may be utilized for handkerchiefs. Little squares may be cut from all parts of them. Old waists will yield a square from each front, one or two from the back, and one from the upper part of each sleeve. Tint the bits of silk in any of the lovely shades that may be obtained by the use of dye soaps. A pretty finish is made by rolling the hems and overcasting in two directions to give the effect of cross-stitch. Embroider a flower or spray in the corner with bright-colored silk.

Prepared the Umbrella

Before the umbrella came there was what was known as the quitao—a parcel of oiled muslin, whose material was imported from India via England. The quitao was a feminine monopoly. The man wore a "roque-laine," or cape of oiled muslin. The first umbrella was fashioned of this material and had ribs of rattan.

AILING PRINCES OF SPAIN.

The plight of too many royal families in consequence of in-breeding and inherited taint, is again brought to attention by the report from Spain that all of King Alfonso's four sons are "too sickly" to hope to succeed him. According to despatches via Paris, a few months ago the council of State, headed by Gen. Primo de Rivera, the virtual dictator, secretly decided that as a result of the illness of Alfonso's eldest son, Prince of the Asturias, the third son must be made heir to the throne, inasmuch as Prince Jaime, the second son, is deaf and dumb. All the King's four sons, it is stated, suffer from haemophilia (excessive bleeding), inherited, it is said, from the English side of the royal family, and the eldest, the Prince of the Asturias, is now worse, being compelled to wear "a tight rubber suit" to prevent hemorrhages. In consequence the Council of State rules that the King's sons are barred by the State of their health and the throne must go to his nephew, Prince Alfonso, a robust young man of twenty-six who is now an army officer.

Just what part King Alfonso played in this "tragic decision" is not known, but his consent is said to have been necessary. Doubtless the decision was long delayed, the royal parents hoping against hope for improvement in the condition of the ailing Princes. Royalty under the most favorable conditions is liable to meet sore trials, but the situation in the palace at Madrid is one of the most pitiable on record. We may well believe that there, as well as in all the remaining palaces of Europe, anxiety is caused by the recognition of inbred royalty's need of new blood from the outside. But how to secure it under existing custom and convention would appear to be a problem without promise of solution.

THE SOVIET AT SEA.

It seems that the navigation of a Soviet ship at sea is liable to be as freakish as is the navigation of the present Russian ship of State. How the Bolshevik idea works out on the waves, or did in one instance, is told by a correspondent of the London Times who recently voyaged round the north coast of Norway and, touching at Honningsvaag, "saw there the soviet steamer Hpaghoe Eham Krasnove Znamjr, an object of considerable local interest and some amusement." What caused amusement was not the ship's ponderous name but the current story of how it came to grief—which is related as follows:

She was running north in the early summer to the White Sea, when the ship's company decided that they had lost faith in the captain's seamanship and formed a "committee of navigation." The committee sat, but agreed so ill that it had to signal for a pilot to take charge. He was on his way to the ship when her people saw (for the first time) that she was dangerously close in-shore. The current swung her bows round, and in broad daylight, in calm weather, she took the ground outside the harbor. There she was during the summer, till a salvage vessel towed her off last month.

The correspondent says further: "In this instance it is a little difficult to extend the sympathy one usually feels for the victims of a marine disaster. My seamen informants made no attempt to do so. They said, with tolerant contempt, that this was the kind of thing they have learned to expect from Russia nowadays." It might be added that it is half the stories coming out of Russia are true. Its ship of State needs a captain and a pilot even more desperately than did the Hpaghoe Eham Krasnove Znamjr.

NEW WORLD VEGETABLES.

Our vegetables native to America are worth more than those of European origin. The Department of Agriculture states that the value of the crop of the eight vegetables which originated in the New World is greater than the value of the twenty-four vegetables of Old World origin that are cultivated in this country. There is at once seen to be no question as to this fact when it is stated that corn and white and sweet potatoes are original products of the western hemisphere. The other five "natives" are beans, tomatoes, pumpkins, squash and peppers. But for corn and the two varieties of potato, all produced in vast quantities and of enormous money value, the twenty-four vegetables of Old World origin would doubtless outrank the native in popularity as well as in commercial value, for they included such favorites as cabbage, onions, carrots, beets, peas, spinach, asparagus and watermelons.

It is strange that corn, by far the most valuable of all our vegetable products, whether of native or foreign origin, has been so little adopted in Europe, in spite of the efforts to introduce its culture. Green corn as a table vegetable has not been accepted at all and the American method of eating it "on the cob" is not admired. It is grown for meal and fodder only in Hungary, Roumania and in parts of Italy. Yet one would think Europeans would not be slow to realize at least its immense service as food for horses, cattle and hogs, even if they can not cultivate a taste for it as a cereal, as bread or as a table vegetable in its green state.

PAIN IN LOWER BACK.

An advertisement in a medical journal the other day must have brought home most forcibly to physicians, that our knowledge of lower back injuries is increasing. The advertisement described a belt or brace to correct a sprain, strain, or slight loosening of the joint between the two bones in the hip, the sacrum or spine bone, and the iliac part of the big flat hip bone itself. The belt is therefore called a sacro-iliac belt. Until just a few years ago, this joint was ignored in the teaching of anatomy, as there was thought to be practically no motion there.

However so many folks complained of "lumbago" after lifting or exertion of any kind, that it was discovered that movement was possible in this joint, and that it could be strained just the same as any other joint. Dr. J. E. Goldthwait of Boston was able to show nearly twenty years ago, that much of the lower backache and sciatica was due to pressure on nerve trunks in this region, owing to the relaxed condition and position of the bones of this joint.

After strapping up the joint with adhesive tape, just as in any other injured joint, the patient secured relief owing to the removal of the pressure on the nerves.

After using the adhesive for about a week, a belt was applied that fitted the abdomen up in front, and braced the sacro-iliac joint, behind. The patient being relieved of most of this severe back and sciatic pain, was enabled to walk, and gradually get about with his usual occupation. And now braces of this nature are manufactured by private firms, and in the workshops of many large hospitals including the Massachusetts General in Boston, and the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn. When you remember that perhaps twenty-five per cent of the cases of backache and sciatica are due to injury, and that these belts give relief, it is only right that sufferers should know about them. In fact these belts will be of help in all lower back conditions, aside from those due to injuries.

DEBOMBING OLD RANGE

San Antonio, Texas, Sept. 20 (AP).—The problem of removing all unexploded bombs, buried in the old bombing range at Kelley Field here, so that the land may be returned to its owners in as good condition as it was before the government took it over, is puzzling air service executives.

The range, roughly between 200 and 300 acres of mesquite, contains many unexploded bombs, some of which are eight feet below the surface. The lease has expired and the air service is trying to devise a method of "debombing" the range. An investigation of the problem has been made by a board of officers and its recommendations now are before air service chiefs in Washington. There is little danger that the bombs themselves will explode, officers say, as they disintegrate rapidly in the ground, but the detonators, which do not disintegrate are a source of danger to anyone handling them.

STUDEBAKER'S

ERSKINE SIX

Stop the next man or woman you see driving an Erskine Six. Ask their frank opinion of this low-priced, high-quality Six built by Studebaker. Below is what Erskine Six owners in all parts of the country replied:

Surpasses All Expectations

"I have owned Studebakers before and I naturally expected a great deal from the Erskine, but it surpassed my highest expectations. In appearance and performance it has it all over any car anywhere near its price."
L. D., Lakeland, Florida

Admired by Everyone

"People you pass on the street stop and give it a second look. Am well pleased with its power plant. Drove up a mountain with a steep grade and went in high all the way."
J. C. L., Hot Springs, Ark.

Unequaled for the Money

"I don't think the Erskine can be equaled by any other car for the money. The easiest little car I ever rode in. I certainly don't have to have a very large place to turn around in."
G. W., Orange, Mass.

Enjoys the Hills

"The little Erskine certainly takes the hills easily. Climbs right up without a murmur and seems to enjoy it. Has lots of power."
G. E. C., Worthington, Minn.

Prettiest on Market

"My personal opinion is that it is the prettiest car on the market. I believe it is the coming car, as it hugs the roads even around curves at 40 to 45 miles an hour—one feels perfectly safe in it."
O. R. H., Charlotte, N. C.

Performs Beautifully

"I owned Studebakers before and 5 months ago I resolved to take a chance on an Erskine. I always was a great gambler and I am glad I took this chance. My Erskine has gone 6,000 miles and it's a great car. It has more pep than a motorcycle and it gives me between 20 and 25 miles per gallon. The upkeep is nothing. I have had only a little service on the car and it has been all right."
N. B., Philadelphia, Pa.

Little Beauty

"I do not think that any other car on the street today has a thing on the Erskine."
W. M. K., Freehold, N. J.

Easiest Riding of All

"My Erskine is the easiest riding car of any I have ever used. I have driven several cars, but I think more of the Erskine than any car I have ever driven."
R. H. L., Abilene, Texas.

Best Pickup

"Has more pickup than any car I have ever driven."
A. A. M., Pierre, S. Dakota

Best Small Six on Road

"I honestly believe that the Erskine Six is the best light six on the road. Without a doubt it is the neatest in appearance. Its difference in body design is most pleasing."
P. H. H., Knoxville, Tenn.

Three Erskines in Family

"Yes, we have three Erskine sedans in our family. That's how good we think they are."
N. S. B., Washington, D. C.

Wonderful on Hills

"Last Sunday I made a trip to Banning, encountering some pretty stiff climbs and sharp curves. Finally I came upon a popular sedan which sells for half again as much as the Erskine, slipped around him and went up a steep hill. I guess that took the heart out of him, for I never did see any more of him. Now I am not afraid of any of them when it comes to going up a hill in high gear."
W. H. C., Riverside, Calif.

Stands Hard Usage

"I am very well pleased with my Erskine. I give it hard usage and it stands up very well."
C. M. J., Tacoma, Wash.

Performs Like a Charm

"My wife and I are more than pleased with our car. We have just returned from a trip to Florida. We had a heavy load of about 700 pounds and met plenty of Georgia mud on the return trip, but the Erskine performed like a charm."
H. A. R., Knoxville, Tenn.

Most Comfortable

"The Erskine is the most comfortable car on the road."
E. C. S., Bellingham, Wash.

First Practice
Of Legion Band

File and Drum Corps of Kingston Post, No. 159, Showed Marked Ability in First Rehearsal—Success Forecast for Organization.

It may have been the assumption of some who passed up or down Broadway in the vicinity of West O'Reilly street Monday night that the famed Pied Piper of Hamelin was visiting Kingston, but any who assumed that were in error, for the musical strains came from the American Legion Memorial Building on West O'Reilly street, where the recently organized file and drum corps of Kingston Post, No. 159, held their first practice session.

The members of the drum corps met at 8 o'clock Monday evening and each was given a drum or file according to his pleasure. Of course upon reception of instruments each Legionnaire gave a shrill toot on his file or a fusillade of beats on his drum and before many minutes after the dispensing of the materials, sounds in discord reigned. The boys were so anxious to learn their ability that practice started immediately, but as all readily grasped the essentials of producing harmonious notes it was not long until Drum Major Bert Castle had the former doughboys and gobs in the midst of their first tune.

The windows in the Memorial Building were wide open and the drum corps could be heard over a protracted range. Passers-by on Broadway were attracted by the sounds of the instruments which made the "Spirit of '76" famous and it was the prediction of many that in the near future Kingston Post, No. 159, American Legion, will be represented by a very able file and drum corps.

NEW YORK STATE SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

The present-day watchword of the Protestant churches in this age is "Religious Education". All denominations are keenly alive to the importance of religious education of the young in its relation to the development of moral character. Education of the head is not alone sufficient as a foundation for correct living. The heart, too, must be trained to love mercy, do justice, and function in the fear of God. In other words, there must be training of both intellect and affections.

The theme of the Seventy-second New York State Sunday School Convention scheduled for Buffalo October 12-14, is "The Challenge of Religious Education". The program deals with all modern phases of religious education, both Sunday and week-day, and holds much for all who are interested in the moral and religious training of childhood and youth.

From the 6,000 churches and Sunday schools of New York state are expected more than 2,000 delegates to participate in the discussions of more than fifty topics related to the convention theme. Groups of churches in many communities are planning to form automobile parties of convention attendants.

In 1924 he set a new National League batting record with a percentage of .424.

Hornsby was appointed manager of the Cardinals on June 1, 1925, and the same year earned the National League award for the most valuable player. He was the first manager to pilot the St. Louis club to a National League pennant and world's championship.

Started Career in '21

Elmer Ellsworth Yoter, new Chicago Cub third baseman, was born at Carlisle, Pa., June 20, 1900, is 5 feet 7 inches tall, weighs 153 pounds, and is right-handed. He began playing professional ball with Norfolk of the Virginia league in 1921, and was sold to the Philadelphia Athletics that fall. He then was sent to Portsmouth of the Virginia league for 1922-23. Portsmouth sold him to Saginaw, Mich., of the Ontario league in 1924, from which team the Cleveland Americans purchased him in August. Yoter was farmed to Indianapolis in January, 1925, but the option was canceled in May, 1925, and he remained with the Indianapolis team until sold to the Cubs recently.

Consecutive Win Record
Is Held by Giants

Twenty-six games in a row is the major league record for consecutive victories and it is held by the New York Giants. They set this mark in 1916, a year in which they finished fourth in the pennant race. The streak started September 7 and ended in the second game of a double-header on September 30.

The American league record is 19 and was made by the Chicago White Sox in the same year, 1916, beginning August 2 and ending August 24.

In 1912 Washington won 16 games in a row, every one on the road, from May 30 to June 18. Last year the Yanks won 16 in a row.

At present he has taken a position in a boy's camp as counselor to keep in condition for the football season.

Besides being a grid star, the young coast athlete, who weighs more than 200 and stands 6 feet 6 inches tall, is a stellar athlete with the weights in track and field.

Highest Price For August Milk

League Pool Price a Record For Eight Consecutive Months—August Reports to Dairymen's League Members Show Record Pool Price, Higher Volume of Milk and More Members.

For the eighth consecutive month since January 1, members of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, Inc., will receive a price for milk higher than that of any corresponding month in the organization's history. The August net pool price as announced at the New York headquarters of the League this week is $2.42 per 100 pounds of 3.5 milk. This is the base price for the 200-210 mile zone.

League farmers comparing this with the average August pool price since the pool was first organized in 1921 find that it is 24 cents higher than the average price for this period.

Reports accompanying the announcement of the August pool price to members also show that the volume of milk handled during the month exceeded that of August, 1926, by approximately 10,000,000 pounds, the largest percentage of increase showing in the 191 plants owned and operated by the members themselves. The report also shows an increase of more than 2,000 participating members in the pool over August a year ago. Gross sales for July were $7,225,181.77.

The 1927 pool prices together with the recent raise in selling prices negotiated by the association have had an encouraging effect on League farmers everywhere throughout the New York milk shed. The successful efforts of the organization to induce the New York city health department to wait another year before taking any steps to extend the milk zone of New York city has had a stimulating effect on milk production. The League's campaign to bring about such an increase in order to save the New York city market for the eastern dairymen promises to bring real results and benefits to the entire industry. In view of these things the present situation of the dairy industry in this part of the country is more hopeful than it has been for a long time.

Gift of $100,000 To Chautauqua

Chautauqua, N. Y., Sept. 20 (AP).—A gift of $100,000, the largest contribution ever made to the Chautauqua Institution in its 53 years, was announced today by President Arthur E. Bestor.

The money was given by Mrs. O. W. Norton, of Chicago, Ill., in memory of her husband, O. W. Norton, and her daughter, Ruth Norton, and is to be used for a new recital hall with a seating capacity of 1,200 to 1,500 persons. The building will be erected as near the center of the Chautauqua grounds as possible and will be ready for the season of 1929.

Plans are to be prepared under the direction of Lorado Taft, and the Norton family, which long has been identified with the Institution, has chosen Otis Johnson of Chicago as the architect. The hall will be used for many purposes and will be available for conventions throughout the year, particularly before and after the regular Chautauqua season.

In the summer the hall will be used for dramatic performances by little theatre companies, for chamber music and recitals by members of the Chautauqua Music School faculty, for classical concerts by the symphony orchestra and for motion pictures. It may be possible, too, that the hall will provide an opportunity for development of an opera school with the performances to be given in the amphitheater.

Two members of the Norton family have served on the board of trustees of the Institution, Elliott Norton, and since 1925, Ralph H. Norton, Chicago business man and president of the Acme Steel Company.

Will Pick Fight Referee Today

Two Judges Will Also Be Selected
But Names of All Three Will Be Kept Secret—Gate Receipts Not Likely to Reach Three Million
Mark.

Chicago, Sept. 20 (AP)—Odds and ends of court preliminaries of the battle of Soldier Field today occupied the legal staffs of the leading characters in this forthcoming drama, while their boxing impresarios discussed with the state athletic commission the vital questions of referee, judges and rules of the ring.

Shadows of injunction suits in both state and federal courts were not taken seriously.

Manager Billy Gibson, piloting champion Gene Tunney and Manager Leo P. Flynn, directing Jack Dempsey's comeback campaign, were to meet with the three members of the boxing commission in their regular weekly get-together today, with five names, possibly more, up for discussion as candidates for the third man in the ring. The names of the referee and the two judges will be kept secret until the moment when Chicago's first heavyweight spectacle actually begins Thursday night.

Rickard said he would take no part in the debate about the referee. George Lytton, wealthy Chicago business man; Walter Eckersall, football star of 26 years ago and now a sports writer, and three or four of the leading referees of Chicago bouts in this state were mentioned.

Tunney and Dempsey did no training other than light bag work today and a bit of road work today, while their managers were in the city conferring with the boxing solons.

Coinciding with the arrival of the vanguard of the ringers, came an influx of "New York wise money" and other offers of not so "wise" but equally negotiable money from the south, west and north, which put the odds of the battle in favor of Dempsey. The champion had been a 7 to 5 favorite up to last night, when supporters of the challenger began to unstrap their bankrolls.

A record in gate receipts, even though the $3,000,000 goal is not achieved, was the solace of the promoters, Rickard and George F. Getz, his Chicago sponsor. They sent telegrams far and wide to their friends with the admission that a previous announcement of a sell out of ringside seats had been too optimistic. Large blocks of the "ringside" seats, once ordered and then turned back by Getz, the railroads, and the "six hundred millionaires" of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, were back in the box office racks.

Getz turned back 4,000 tickets, and the railroads and others nearly as many more, so that the actual sale was figured around $2,225,000 with a total of $2,500,000 as the ultimate of Rickard's hopes.

The radio was blamed by Rickard for the decline in ticket sales. He said he would call in his lawyers after this fight and see if some way could not be devised to "make the fellows with the ear phones and the loud speakers pay."

"I never did have a sellout in any championship fight," Rickard said. "And it will not break my heart if I don't have one this time. I never said anything about a $3,000,000 gate anyhow. The fact is that if all the seats were sold the receipts would be around $3,200,000."

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press.)

Waiting hops of the New York Giants for the National League pennant were revived today with only three and one-half games separating John McGraw's club from the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Giants have 10 games left to play, four of them with the Pirates and although the task ahead is a severe one the Manhattan entry is still clutching at the opportunity.

Not only would the Giants have to win their series with Pittsburgh to gain first place, but they might possibly have to sweep four games to remain ahead of the St. Louis Cardinals, who are still only a half game out of second place.

Cincinnati bowed before the Giants yesterday in a 10-6 combat marked by listless playing. Tagged playing by the Red infield in the fourth inning, three singles and Bill Terry's twentieth home run brought in six Giant runs. Burleigh Grimes occupied the mound for New York and contributed his 15th victory.

Pittsburgh slipped a game by losing to Brooklyn, 3-0. Dazzy Vance was in great form. He gave only six hits, kept them scattered, and only in the ninth did the leaders get as far as second base. Babe Herman followed by Flowers's single, accounted for Brooklyn's runs.

Art Nehf, veteran southpaw, pitched his first full game for the Chicago Cubs and returned with a 6-0 win over Boston. The Braves found him for only six hits. Nehf's two hits drove in three of the Chicago runs. The Cubs batted Charley Robertson for nine hits, six of them for extra bases.

The world champion St. Louis Cards made it three straight over Philadelphia. Frankhouse, Houston, Texas, recruit, pitched his fourth victory since coming to the majors. He was nicked for ten hits but emerged with a 12-5 verdict as the Cards hit Sweetland hard and forced his retirement in the sixth. Cy Williams and Jim Bottomley hit for the circuit. Bottomley's smash came with two runners on the paths.

Washington and Cleveland hooked up in the only game on the American League schedule. The Senators were ahead 4-1, when the contest had to be halted in the sixth because of rain.

Dempsey in Excellent Shape

Former Champion in Far Better Shape Than He Was When Tunney Defeated Him at Philadelphia Last Year—Will Enter Ring in Top Condition.

Lincoln Fields, Crete, Ill., Sept. 20 (AP)—To all outward appearances, peace prevailed in Jack Dempsey's training camp today—peace for every one with the exception of the former world's heavyweight champion himself, who was bubbling over with nervous energy in striking contrast to his harried mental aspect of a year ago, just before fighting his losing battle with Gene Tunney in Philadelphia.

The Jack Dempsey of today is a changed individual. Not only is the old gleam back in Jack's eye, but much of his playfulness has returned, reminding his admirers, and even neutral observers, that there is as much difference between the Dempsey of today and the Dempsey of twelve months ago as there is between day and night.

The present day Dempsey, no longer worried with law suits, and the menacing threats of his former manager, Jack Kearns, is more like the Dempsey of the Mirpo days four years ago. The critics say he has improved 50 per cent over his mental and physical condition when he fought Tunney in the rain at Philadelphia and that he is 25 per cent a better fighter than when he knocked out Jack Sharkey two months ago.

His body is lean, his eyes are bright and clear; there does not seem to be an ounce of superfluous flesh on his frame; even the slight rolls of fat that were so noticeable during his training for Sharkey at Saratoga have disappeared under his long siege of training at this racing plant.

Dempsey has been in training here under the watchful eye of the old fox of fistiana, Leo P. Flynn, who has brought him right up to the edge for fighting, so that Dempsey will enter the ring Thursday in top condition.

ROCHESTER TEAM WILL CAMP OUT ON CAMPUS.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 20 (AP)—The football squad of the University of Rochester will "camp out" on the campus for the two weeks' preliminary training allowed by the rulings of the New York State Conference, of which the university is a member.

Matthew D. Lawless, director of the board of athletic control, has announced that if the camp is a success it may be continued for the duration of the football season.

Coach Tom Davies of Pittsburgh and Assistant Coach Lawrence Judd must develop a complete forward line, with the single exception of the center position, which is expected Captain Vandeverter will fill. Graduation took heavy toll from football ranks, and with the exception of Vandeverter, only three regulars will return this fall. They are Collamer, Wilson and Zornow, all backfield men. The season opens October 1 with Alfred here.

Tunney Ends Training Grind

Champion Is Impassive in His Final Workout—Says That He Will Have No Excuses to Offer If Defeated—Declares That Cut Over Eye Is Not Mental Hazard.

Lake Villa, Ill., Sept. 20 (AP)—The calmest heavyweight champion the ring has seen in many years, Gene Tunney, packed away his training gloves today and rested for his first defense of his crown Thursday night against Jack Dempsey. Two more strolls on the road, two more brief periods with the punching bags, and Tunney is ready to try to prove again his superiority over the former titleholder with six ounce mitts in a 20 foot ring.

He will have no excuses to offer if defeated, the champion said today. For more than five months he has worked to build up his condition for the battle and confidence shows in his every move and word.

Five rounds yesterday with two sparring partners who found it exceedingly difficult even to touch him with the gloves, rang down the curtain on Tunney's preparations.

"That cut over my eye is not a mental hazard as some believe," Tunney said. "I will forget all about it once the fight is underway. It will take a solid punch to reopen the wound and I hope I will be lucky enough to avoid any punches Dempsey may aim at it. I am in as good condition as I can possibly be and I will have no excuses to offer if I am defeated."

Benny Leonard, retired lightweight champion, and Tom Sharkey, former heavyweight contender, watched the titleholder go through his final workout.

Tunney worked for a long time on one-two punches, devoting more time to socking the big bag with left hooks and heavy rights than in any previous session since he came to the camp here three weeks ago. He correspondingly easier on his sparring partners when the boxing part of the day's work began. His footwork and dodging made them miss blow after blow, while he shot in counter jabs and stepped back again.

TITLE GAME THURSDAY OWING TO RAIN MONDAY.

Rain prevented the championship game of the Industrial League between the West Shore and the U. & D.-Cornell teams at the Athletic Field Monday evening and a large number of fans will have to endure their eagerness to witness the deciding battle for league honors until Thursday evening. The game will be called by Umpire Peter Jordan at 5:45 o'clock.

Change in Ferry Schedule Sunday

The Rhinebeck and Kingston Ferry Company announces a slight change in their time table to take effect next Sunday. Trips will be made at forty minute intervals from 7 a. m. to 10:20 p. m. from Kingston, and from 7:20 a. m. to 10:40 p. m. from Rhinebeck. On Sundays the schedule will be the same except that the first trip from each side will be made forty minutes later.

Connections will be provided for all trains with which the ferry has connected during the summer. The adjustment, due to the discontinuance of daylight saving time, will in some cases, however, make it necessary to take a different trip of the ferry than has been the case during the summer.

Old Pharaoh Giant

Herodotus, Diodorus and Plutarch give us a few dazzling glimpses of wealthy men in antiquity. First of them, almost lost in the mists of legend, was the Egyptian Pharaoh Ramesses III—also known as Rhamphinites—who reigned about 3,000 years ago. He surpassed all predecessors in the wealth he possessed and in his fondness for its accumulation. Diodorus estimates this pharaoh's fortune at 400,000 talents, which would be about $500,000,000 in actual money today. In the purchasing power of that period it was equivalent to twenty times this amount. Ramesses, therefore, was worth $10,000,000,000 in the buying value of his day.

To show how far money would go a thousand years before Christ, it is only necessary to mention that a fat ox could be bought for $1 or less; that a bushel of wheat would bring 12 cents in the market; that a day's wage was from 12 to 20 cents.—New York Times.

ELEANOR GUNN On Fashions

Radical Style Changes Include the Introduction of Circular and More Elaborate Effects for Sports Wear—Tweeds and Velvets Are Among the Most Frequently Discussed Materials

New York.—The topic of conversation amongst most women just now is the style changes that the new season offers. Such interesting innovations add zest to the search for new clothes. One feels the thrill of the unexpected and it is certain that a new dress will scarcely pass unnoticed.

Accepting the one-sided development seems to be the aim and object of most designers. One is usually wise in avoiding extremes, yet no less designers than Philippe et Gaston offer a model that has contradictory effects; one being gathered and the other fitted. It is usually considered more or less of an asset to be well balanced, yet designers have done everything possible to produce one-sided effects that are diametrically opposed to any idea of uniformity or balance.

Futurism in Sleeves. The seasoned fashion expert has learned to take radical changes with a grain of salt. This year, however, there are several radical changes that cannot be ignored. One cannot, for instance, deny the fuller skirt, or the slightly longer one. Nor can one ignore the feeling for fullness in sleeves, although we are not ready, perhaps, for such innovations as the box-pleated sleeve introduced in tribute to Francois Premier, by Lanvin, who, as usual, is inspired by the romantic past.

Of the several silhouettes introduced for fall, one feels that enough has been said. Apparently, all are finding disciples, which is as it should be, since all women are not made from the same mold. The full skirt, irregular and inclined to dip at the back or side, has many devotees for evening.

Chanel seems likely to score again with her interesting mesh beaded dress, inspired by a mesh bag. She has also won the admiration with her colored lace gowns, delicately embroidered here and there with beads, dresses usually accompanied by a matching scarf.

Tweed Skirt and Fur Jacket. Molyneux has registered by adding jaunty and often charming tweed jackets to his evening gowns, and more or less in the same way are Worth's bolero evening gowns.

The importance of the circular skirt for fall has been repeatedly discussed, yet emphasis has not been laid on this feature in the sports field. One is naturally attuned to the idea that sports clothes should, may, must be, plain. Even their recent glorification has not reconciled us to the idea that they should be elaborate.

The entrance of the circular skirt for sports wear brings us to a realization that things are not going to remain as they were, and that dress standards, like other standards, must change. Tweed skirts, fashioned on circular lines and topped for outdoor wear, by short fur jackets made an attractive addition to the already long list of sports ensembles from which "she" will choose her costume for bowl or stadium this fall. Lining a fur jacket with tweed may seem a bit like carrying coals to Newcastle, yet it is being done.

All-Velvet Costume Popular. A development of the tweed and fur combination is advocated by one creator who chooses to make the jackets' sleeves of cloth rather than fur. This is in line with the movement toward sleeveless jackets and contrasting sleeves, both details of the season from which we are departing with no sartorial regrets, since the new one offers so much of interest and actual beauty.

There is also the always luxurious combination of velvet and fur to be considered just now. The circular velvet skirt is a fitting companion for the abbreviated fur jacket, and the rather formal lame jumper. Velvets have a good enticing way of being checked or in some way ornamented, and experts feel that not even the cheaper quality velveteen dresses, which have already flooded the market, will have an unfavorable effect on the elegance of the velvet costume, which starts, naturally enough, with the hat.

Both velvet and hatter's plush have gained recognition in smart millinery circles, although many well dressed women swear allegiance to felt. This, by the way, has also been subjected to various treatments, which roughen, flatten, or otherwise decorate the heretofore plain surface.

WOODCHUCKS NUMEROUS

IN THE ADIRONDACKS.

Saranac Lake, N. Y., Sept. 20 (AP).—It's thumbs down for Brother Woodchuck, the fat little comedian of Adirondack clearings, fields and pastures.

To city folks the woodchuck is just the merry, brown-clad clown of the clearings, amusing but harmless as he sits bolt upright near the mouth of his burrow, his shoe-button eyes twinkling with good nature, his black nose twitching.

But the farmer sees the other side of the picture. To him the groundhog is "an infernal nuisance," a pest that honeycombs the fields with holes and tunnels into which horses step at the risk of their precious legs, and an enemy of the truck garden.

Woodchucks became so numerous in some of the Adirondack counties this summer that war has been declared upon them. The offensive starts next spring and will be waged not with gun and dogs but with a poison recommended by the Farm Bureau Federation, the organization that will direct the campaign of extermination.

Meanwhile the chucks are preparing for their long winter sleep, indifferent to rumors of the war that will break when they awaken.

Youth Sues Two For $200 Wages

One of the Defendants Is His Father, Who Was in Partnership With Anna Herman of Ellenville and Who Admits Agreement to Pay.

The last call today to come to trial in court is an action brought by Benjamin Miller, by guardian, against Abram Miller and Anna Herman, both of Ellenville. The complaint is a bill of particulars, and the action is brought to recover for wages due. It is alleged by the plaintiff that he entered into an agreement to work for his father and Herman while they were in partnership in the cattle buying business in Ellenville from August, 1925, to May, 1926, when as Abram Miller testified there was a "big fight" and the partnership was dissolved.

Plaintiff claims that he was to work for the partnership and for a sum of $10 a week. He was then a student at the Ellenville High School and claims he was to work before and after school attending to the cattle which the partnership bought and kept at the Miller barn. The action is an appeal from justice's court and the amount sought is $200.

Miller claims that when the partnership broke up after the trouble, Herman refused to pay the wages which it is alleged the partnership was to pay although other bills connected with the partnership deal were terminated. The matter was tried out in justice's court and resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff.

Leroy Lounsbury appears for the plaintiff and Lloyd R. LeFever and H. Westlake Coons appear for the defendants.

Abram Miller, although a defendant, testified in regard to the matter in favor of his son, stating that there had been an agreement to pay the boy $10 a week for his services. The contract is denied by defendant, Abram Miller and Anna Herman are both butchers in Ellenville.

Kiwanis Kunning Kapers Kaptures

stage many times, but it was not until Monday evening that their voices were revealed to better advantage as they presented an artistic song and dance revue entitled "Flowers From an Old Bouquet." Miss Cowley was exquisitely gowned and was a most charming stage presence. Her voice was displayed to great advantage in the number she sang solo and also in the duets with Mr. Purcell who was also in excellent voice. The harmonies in this number were delightful.

During the presentation of the revue a number of pleasing dances were introduced with little Betty Entrott as "The Violet," Frances Finn, Ethel Kline and Newell Lasher as "The Roses," Gertrude Jacobson, Valerie Taiclet and Miriam Tammany as "The Tulips," and Ellen Diamond, Agnes Scully, Margaret O'Reilly, Florence Rafalowsky as "The Black Eyed Susans." A touch of humor was added by the eccentric dancing of Howard Kinch as "The Lily." Kinch with his get up and his glasses looked just like Harold Lloyd.

The Bathing Beauties. The first part of the Kapers was then brought to an appropriate close with "The Bathing Beauty Contest," with Paul Zucca as master of ceremonies. Against a backdrop that represented a scene on the ocean front appeared those charming bathing beauties. The Freeman is not revealing the names as they will appear again tonight and the audience may guess who they are.

As Mr. Zucca rightly said: "Never before in the history of this old Colonial city has more graceful beauty of both face and form been displayed. As for the costumes, it will prove a revelation as to what should be worn on the beach next season."

The Night Club. During the intermission the audience relaxed and animatedly began discussing what was to follow while the Kapers were being gotten ready for the big second part which opened with a scene on the "Great White Way" in New York city with Clarence S. Rowland energetically searching for Texas Guinan's Night Club where he wanted to join "the party". In his efforts to locate the Night Club he accosted every one who passed which included William Newkirk as the policeman; Nick Murphy as the newsboy; Mrs. R. F. Chidsey, Judge Joseph M. Fowler, Thelma Durr, Henry Dittus, Irene Gleason, Paul Zucca, Gertrude Jacobson, Dr. R. S. Crispell, James Dickson, Mrs. Irving Smith and Fred Meeker. Their responses to Mr. Rowland's inquiries were worth the price of admission alone.

At last, however, Mr. Rowland, with the assistance of one of the passersby located The Night Club, and entered to the accompaniment of singing and the waving of banners and confetti. This act was presented full stage and was one of the big features of the revue.

Tables were placed on the stage around which were gathered practically the entire cast of the Kapers with Margaret L. Richards portraying the part of Texas Guinan, The Night Club hostess.

The audience was given a taste of the flavor of night club life as the act was gotten under way and from the opening musical number, "A Holiday on Old Broadway," sung by Miss Richards, and the guests to the final number, "Lucky Day," by Mr. Newkirk and the guests.

Walters Full of Humor. A fine taste of humor was interspersed between the various song numbers by the jokes cracked by the "colored singing waiters" of the Night Club, Messrs. Thomas Rowland, Dick Obensh, Jimmy Winters, Arthur Pennington, Addison Schultz, Vincent Van Bramer, Alfred G. Messinger and John Fisher.

In his song, "The Nightingale," Richard Scherer displayed a voice of rare beauty and especially effective was the rendition of the chorus by the guests who both whistled and sang the refrain. It was followed by "Clementine," sung by Alfred G. Messinger, which also proved a hit.

Harry Lazarus, Kiwanian and manager of the theatre, sang "Just Like a Butterfly" and never was he in better voice than Monday night. He was followed by Helen Cashin in a song and dance number, "Clap Yo Hands", in which in the dancing she had the able assistance of Vincent Van Bramer.

Nicholas Murphy, the newsboy, followed in "Mary Lou" and while he sang the closing chorus "Mary Lou" was delightfully danced by little Anna Kuetsch. Jimmy Winters followed in "She's Not That Kind", sung as only Jimmy could sing it.

One of the finest dancing acts on the entire program followed. It was given by Miss Elsie Gleason and Howard Kinch and was up to the best traditions of night club life. In fact in the Misses Gleason and Cashin and the Messrs. Kinch and Van Bramer the Kapers presented four of the finest dancers in the city.

A pleasing vocal duet was that of Marie Beichert and Leon Carey who sang "What Does It Matter." It was followed by Vincent Van Bramer in "The Whisper Song" in which Vincent introduced some new dancing steps.

One of the finest duets of the evening was that of the Misses Mildred Messinger and Jessie Cowley who sang "Two Little Birds." A pleasing bit of business introduced during the singing of this number was the dancing of the Misses Marjorie Lockwood and Lillian Woerner.

Fisher As Good As Ever.

John Fisher, who has proven his mettle in times past in various local minstrel shows, sang with fine effect "Here Comes the Show Boat" in which he was assisted by the chorus of guests. He also introduced some new dancing steps and at the height of the gaiety there came a sudden interruption on the part of "Police-man" William Newkirk who sang "Lucky Day", and the Kapers were brought to a close with the grand finale.

As one glances back over the entire show it is difficult to single out any particular act as the best of the evening as all portrayed their parts in masterly fashion. The dancing was exceptionally fine, the singing was peppy, the jokes clean and the tire performance moved with a snap and precision of a professional performance.

The scenery, costumes and lighting effects which were furnished by the Henry Miller Producing Company, which produced the show, were adequate and beautiful. Charles L. Adams of the Miller Company, who assembled the cast and rehearsed the performance, is also entitled to great credit in producing what undoubtedly was one of the finest performances, either amateur or professional, ever given from a stage in a local theatre. The work of the Broadway Theatre Orchestra under the leadership of Mr. Adams added much to the enjoyment and success of the show. The pianist of the evening was Mrs. Julius I. Gifford, who is the regular accompanist of the Kiwanis Club at its weekly meetings.

The Guests Present.

The guests seated on the stage during the presentation of The Night Club were:

Marie Beichert, Margaret Brown, Florence Baltz, Harriet S. Chidsey, Lillian Coffin, Jessie M. Cowley, Helen Cashin, Thelma Durr, Irene Gleason, Helyn A. ## Meredith Wants Dry Conference

Former Secretary of Agriculture Wants Dry Democrats to Unite on Man to Oppose Smith—Baker, Walsh, and Robinson Among Those Mentioned.

New York, Sept. 20 (AP)—A call for a conference of dry Democrats by Edwin T. Meredith today added spice to the presidential political pot started boiling by W. G. McAdoo's announcement that he would not run.

While Meredith, who had been a supporter of McAdoo, was making his call in New York, Senator Reed of Missouri, aspirant for the Democratic nomination, was making a speech at Hutchinson, Kans., on farm relief. On the Republican side there were various comments by leaders as to whether Coolidge would run. While deprecating his own potentialities he named as likely selections Newlon D. Baker, Senator Thomas L. Walsh, of Montana, Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, Representative Cordell Hull, of Tennessee, and Daniel C. Roper of Texas. Meredith expressed the belief that Senator Reed and Governor Ritchie of Maryland would be unassailable to the dry progressive Democrats for the same reason which debars Governor Smith from Meredith's favor, their stand on the prohibition question.

"I am personally for the selection of a dry Democrat and feel that the selection of any other type foredooms the party to defeat." With both McAdoo and Meredith in New York, Governor Smith, who is also here, seemed unperturbed over the quest for his opponent in the next convention. His sole comment on the situation was: "I am not at all interested in the samings or goings of the gentlemen from California and Iowa."

Hold Primary Elections Today

(By The Associated Press.)
New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania went to the polls today in local elections, some of them involving issues of national interest.
Municipal primaries in Philadelphia were generally regarded as testing the strength of William S. Vare, Republican senator-elect, whose seat is challenged on the grounds of alleged campaign corruption. Vare support was behind Harry A. Mackey, city treasurer and Vare's campaign manager, against former Mayor J. Hampton Moore, independent candidate for the Republican nomination for mayor.
City interest was keen, bringing out a record registration of 500,000. Robert V. Bolger and Thomas A. Logue were opponents for the Democratic nomination.
Elsewhere in the state issues were chiefly of local interest, with excitement running high in Pittsburgh, where police with tear gas and riot guns were on patrol to prevent disorder.
In New Jersey the vote was upon five proposals to amend the State Constitution, one of them providing for election of the governor every four years in presidential years. This has been attacked by the Democrats as a Republican move to swamp opposition at times when the farm vote is out in strength.
Interest in primary elections in New York was confined to contests for nomination of 18 candidates for state assembly, one for state senator, and one for congressman; in addition to local offices.

Sidelights on Paris Convention

Paris, Sept. 20 (AP).—Communists steered clear of the husky members of the American Legion during their parade, but ran riot in the red suburb of Clichy, where they had a good time tearing down American and French flags during celebration of the renaming of the small square "Place Sacco-Vanzetti."
Several shots were fired and a lot of noses were punched when police interfered with the flag tearing spree.

Paris is showering special attention on the women folk of the second A. E. F. Private homes have been thrown open to them and various clubs have organized functions in their honor. Mme. Jules Jusserand, wife of the former ambassador to the United States, is in charge of this branch of France's hospitality to the legion.

One of the pilgrims is unimpressed with Paris. He is J. J. C. of Cleveland, sole representative of the G. A. R. to march in the legion parade. He is 84, just a year younger than Georges Clemenceau. The Legion's stay in Paris, he says, is all very fine and nice but "still tame."

Van Leuven is said to have admitted taking a couple of geese, a duck and six chickens; the chickens and duck were cooked but the geese were spared. It is alleged he broke into the barn of David W. Rhodes.

Smith and Vare Worry Senators

Do Not Know Whether to Bar Them at the Door or to Seat Them Pending an Investigation of Their Primary Expenditures—Reorganization of the Senate Bound Up in the Answer.

Washington, Sept. 20 (AP).—What to do on the matter of temporarily seating Frank L. Smith of Illinois and William S. Vare of Pennsylvania is a question giving a number of senators concern.

Bound up in the answer are two other important questions, reorganization of the senate, in which the Republicans have a paper majority of one counting the votes of Smith and Vare, and the number of votes that would be necessary to oust the Illinois and Pennsylvania senators later after further investigation of their primary expenditures.

Even some of the Democrats hold that Illinois and Pennsylvania should have full representation in the senate before the vote on reorganization. The only way this can be afforded, is to permit Smith and Vare to take the oath of office. Others, including Republicans as well as Democrats, insist that both should be "stopped at the door."

Those senators, Republicans and Democrats, favoring the temporary seating of the two senators-elect argue now that only a majority vote would be necessary to unseat them later. Heretofore, it has been held generally that a two-thirds vote would be necessary to accomplish this end.

Some leaders hope that at least the Smith case can be disposed of before the Christmas holidays.

The Vare case, however, presents quite a different problem from the Smith case. In it is involved not only the question of huge expenditures in the primary campaign, but also charges of irregularities in the general election, and if this aspect is pressed it will be months before the senate reaches a final vote.

Union City Has Disastrous Fire

One Woman Suffocated and Five Persons Injured and Overcome—Three Blocks Threatened in Two Separate Parts of the City.

Union City, N. J., Sept. 20 (AP).—One woman was suffocated and five persons were injured and overcome by smoke in fires that threatened three blocks in two separate parts of Union City early today.

A two story wood tenement house, a two story combination factory and storage building, two garages and a service station were swept by flames, and a seven-story factory building was threatened. Police said explosions caused both fires.

Those trapped in the tenement house were forced to leap from windows as flames swept the structure after the explosion. Three children were injured and their mother died in the blaze.

The injured: Alice Meyers, 19, both wrists broken and slight burns. Marie Meyers, 21, deep lacerations on forehead and burns. Charles Meyers, 17, slight burns. Patrolmen Joseph Lawles and Frank Weber were overcome by smoke.

Thirty minutes after the tenement house blaze, fire broke out in the factory-storage building and spread to two adjoining garages and a service station. Residents in the neighborhood were ordered from their homes as fear spread that a huge gasoline tank in one of the garages would explode. Firemen saved a seven-story factory building in an adjoining block.

The Insult
 The old lady entered the room where her husband lay on his bed of sickness. She was trembling with suppressed wrath and indignation.
 "What's the matter?" asked the old man.
 "Why," she said, "I just went into the vicarage to tell them you weren't any better, and they wanted me to bring you a bottle of wine."
 "Have you brought it?" asked the sick man eagerly.
 "No, not me, indeed," was the indignant reply. "I heard the vicar's wife say it had been in the cellar since 1900 and when she offered it to me I just walked off without a word. I don't want the nasty stale stuff."
 London Tit-Bits.

Conscientious Borrower
 One morning Mrs. R. answered a knock at her kitchen door. There stood Helen, three years old, who lived in the other half of the duplex.
 "I want to borrow a match for mother; she said that she would bring it back when the grocer boy comes,"
 announced the child.
 In a few minutes Mrs. R. was summoned to the door again. There stood Helen, holding a burned match between her thumb and finger.
 "Here is your match. Many thanks.
 Mother did not use it all. She was busy, so I thought I might as well
 bring it back to you."—Indianapolis

Persians Fond of Tea
 Tea drinking is a universal social habit in Persia. One of the social institutions of great attraction is the tea-house, some of which are furnished quite elaborately, while others are rude in their surroundings. Business men often make appointments here, and it is very common for loafers to seek out these tea-houses. The common pipes, cigarettes and the kalem, or water pipe, are much used. In the water pipe the smoke passes through the water and is drawn into the lungs. Lemon juice and other flavors are sometimes mixed with the water.

Ancient Stone Unveiled
 The "Brass Stone," which dates from 1304, and was lost for 150 years, was recently installed permanently in the staircase of the town hall at Annan, Scotland. At the ceremony the unveiling was by Sir Robert Bruce. The stone was originally part of the ancient "Castle of Bruce" at Annan. After its disappearance for a century and a half it was found ten years ago in a North Devon garden.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 20 (AP).—Burying orders poured into the stock market today as it became evident that the tide of least resistance for the market was upward. Operators for the rise derived much encouragement from the recuperative powers which the list displayed after recent intervals of hectic selling, and the assurance of any developments in the business situation to justify further speculation liquidation.

Some concern was manifested for a while at a further stiffening in the rate for day to day monetary accommodation and the calling of some $15,000,000 loans by banks, but when vigorous pool operations began to break out in many new quarters, some of the early sellers began to buy back their stocks hurriedly.

Marked buoyancy was exhibited by a number of popular issues especially among the rubber, oil and public utility groups. Pan American B went up 3 points following the cut in the annual dividend rate from $6 to $4, as it had been freely predicted that payments would be reduced to $3.

General Motors, which had been the storm center of two past sessions, fluctuated within the comparatively narrow orbit of about two points.
 Chief speculative interest in the motor group appeared to center on such independent shares as Mack Truck and Studebaker.

Prices of a number of industrials and specialties were elevated 3 to 7 points, some of them attaining new peak prices for the year. Various railroads reflected the outlook for increased traffic in later months, notably Chesapeake and Ohio, Western Maryland, Baltimore and Ohio and New York, Ontario and Western.

Acute weakness developed in Pathe Exchange "A" stock which dropped five points to a new low.

Two Church Designations
 The word "protestant" includes many churches, the Protestant Episcopal and the Methodist Episcopal among them. This word "protestant" came into use at the time of the Reformation both in England and on the continent. It stood for a protest against the Roman Catholic church.
 The name is not particularly significant at this time when all of the churches are drawing closer together.

Hunger Follows Mexican Flood

Mexico City, Sept. 20 (AP).—The phantom of hunger loomed in the flood-stricken Lerma Valley today.
 With the flood waters covering the district around Acambaro in the state of Guanajuato, adequate relief work for the present is impossible.

The federal garrison has been struggling to rescue the people.
 Foodstuffs have been commandeered for distribution among the victims.
 The number of soldiers, however, is limited and they could not attend the cries of agony which came from many families perched on their house tops imploring mercy as the raging torrents gradually capped the walls of the houses beneath them.

Several houses collapsed and the rushing waters carried off whole families and others were buried beneath the ruins. Although only six known deaths are reported, it is believed that the actual toll taken by the Lerma river will be far above that. When the refugees who took shelter in the high lands return the number of victims can be set approximately but the exact toll probably will never be known. Many are believed to have been buried under the toppling houses and others carried away by the flood.

Paris, Sept. 20 (AP).—Speedier adjudication of veterans' claims and improvement of hospitalization ser-

Big Fire Swept Shultz Brickyard

Fire broke out this afternoon in the plant of the Charles S. Shultz & Son brickyard at East Kingston and at 1:40 o'clock the local fire department received a call for assistance and Chief Murphy and the Wilwyck Hose Company pumper were sent to the scene. The fire was confined to the large kiln shed which was practically burned to the ground. The dryer plant adjoining was also burned. There are two kiln sheds on the yard. The small shed is some distance away from the large shed which was destroyed.
 Oil burners are used in firing the brick and a fire had been started Monday, but it is not known whether the fire started from the kiln fire or not. It was almost impossible to ascertain accurate information about the fire as those who resided in the vicinity did not answer their telephones, evidently watching the progress of the blaze.
 The heavy smoke thrown off by the fire was plainly visible from this city.

Doctor's Widow Attends Funeral

 Lillendahl today attended the funeral of her husband, Dr. A. William Lillendahl, who was shot to death three miles from Hammon last Thursday afternoon.

Clad in deep mourning, the widow wept throughout the service. She had been held on $25,000 bail as a material witness.

Dr. Lillendahl was shot in a thicket adjoining a lonely woods while seated with his wife in an automobile. The widow told the police that two negroes attacked them and shot her husband. She said they robbed her husband's body of $200 and jewels besides taking some of her jewelry.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Although there was more or less static Monday afternoon and evening, reception was not bad. WLS was heard at 7:45, just before signing off for the Chicago silent night. WJZ was good during the Roxy's Roxy program but faded badly thereafter. Akron and Columbus stations were clear and strong. WHAM, since increasing its power, is heard easily every night and WSYR was especially strong Monday night.

In the afternoon WEAF was testing out its new 50 kilowatt station, but static impaired reception. WOR is also using its new power, showing a great improvement.

For some unknown reason CNRT was using a 250 meter wave length in the evening.

Of course, WPG spread.

The buzzer did not buzz.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

New York.—The winner of Thursday night's melee in Chicago is challenged to an endurance contest by Dr. Winifred Beckville Stover, founder of the League for Fostering Genius. Offering to prove that she has more stamina for useful pursuits than either Tunney or Dempsey she proposes that the champion do his stuff such as shadow boxing, etc., while she plays musical instruments, rides a bicycle, drives a car, sews, knits, cooks, plays with children, crochets and composes music. The first to succumb to exhaustion loses.

New Brunswick, N. J.—A gentleman who as a student at Rutgers University was known as a greasy grind now holds the most important position in the world. At 32, S. Parker Gilbert, agent general of reparations, was earning $45,000 a year. In giving this information to freshmen President Thomas told them not to place credulity in the disparaging way in which students might refer to scholarship.

New York.—Come home by boat at once is the substance of a cablegram sent by Mrs. Charles A. Levine to her husband. At last accounts he was dining in a Russian restaurant in an exclusive quarter of Paris with Miss Mabel Boll, who is anxious to make a transatlantic flight.

New York.—"Now you know how it sounds to look at my face," said Al Smith at the radio world's fair. He was making a speech after a picture of himself had been transmitted by a photo-radio system. His features were recorded on disc like canned music, then "played." They sounded like dots and dashes, the louder the sound the greater the shading.

London.—Romance and wealth have come from the same place to Sean O'Casey, Irish dramatist. The former dock laborer is to marry Eileen Carey, actress, who obtained her first chance on the stage in "The Plow and the Stars." O'Casey's first success.

Plan Hudson Valley League

Grand Knight John Hogan of Florence Council, Knights of Columbus, Poughkeepsie, is making plans for the Kayseys' early debut on the basketball court this season. The Florentines captured the championship of the Bridge City for the seventh consecutive time last season and after a late start in the sport bowed to Wappingers Falls in a tilt for the Dutchess county championship. Jack Gartland, who so successfully piloted the Kayseys last year will undoubtedly boss the outfit this season.

Florentine Council is much interested in the formation of a Hudson valley league and has sent out invitations to eight or more councils in the district to join them in forming a circuit for the staging of Sunday games. Last year after the season had aged considerably a league was started among the Hudson valley teams, but little was accomplished. The experience, however, will be of value in forming a circuit this season.

Kingston Council, No. 275, had a team in the league last year but no games were staged in Kingston owing to the reason that no court could be obtained. Action by the Kingston Kayseys on the formation of a Hudson valley league is not yet known.

POUGHKEEPSIE SCHEDULED TO MEET MONTICELLO

Poughkeepsie High School is scheduled to meet Monticello Saturday on Memorial Field in the Bridge City, but it is yet an uncertainty whether or not the game will materialize.

Coach Kallioch is minimizing the number of workouts in order to get ready for the encounter Saturday and is being assisted in whipping the team into shape by "Lin" Kelly former guard on the University of St. Lawrence team. The Bridge City eleven is not very optimistic about capturing the DUO League championship at the end of the season it is said for it is realized that a number of rookies will be in the line-up this season.

LOCAL PLAYERS IN NEWBURGH LINE-UP

Bud Culloton and Maury McDermott will be in the line-up of the Newburgh Knights of Columbus team when that aggregation plays the New York police team on Saturday at Recreation Park, Newburgh. Bud is slated to do the hurrying for the Kayseys and will have no light task on his hands for the minions of the law have registered 17 victories in twenty battles during the season.

EXCELSIORS TO PLAY FOR TABASCO ON SATURDAY

The annual field day and outing of the Tabasco Association will be held at the Tabasco school grounds on Saturday afternoon and evening. The Excelsior Hose Company band of this city has been engaged to play and will render a concert during the afternoon and will also play for the dancing at night.
